Money Comes in Bunches

To A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y. Now, His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old-time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and nerves. 50c at all druggists.

Every visitor at the new capitol at Harrisburg, Pa., who gets as far as the registration room is expected to write his name in a big book, together with his birthplace and present residence. Not long ago, when a crowd of excursionists visited the grounds and buildings, a stout girl started to register.

She paused, pen poised in air, and called for an elderly lady, comfortably seated in a big chair. "Mom, veer vas I borned at?"

"Vat you vant to know dat for?" "Dis man wants to put it in der big book."

"Ach," answered the mother, "you know vell enough—in der old stone house."—Troy Times.

CORINNE AND HER BEAUTY SEXTETTE

In the original production of the famous Viennese operetta, "Mlle. Mischief" the Shuberts will offer Corinne at the Duncan opera house on next Tuesday night, October 26th. In keeping with the occasion, which marks Corinne's premiere as an "independent" star, the Shuberts have surrounded her with a cast of favorites and a large chorus in addition to the original English pony ballet. The original production will be seen here.

While the score of "Mlle. Mischief" is one of its chief attributes the book, which is by Sydney Rosenfeld, is its chief recommendation. When the Shuberts acquired control of the opera they commissioned Rosenfeld to re-write the book, which has been done with most excellent results.

The plot tells of an artist's model, Rosette, who undertakes to enlist in the army and remain in the local barracks for twenty-four hours without detection. The part is admirably played by Corinne. Her scenes in the barracks with the officers—especially when she is told that she must take frequent baths in the presence of her superiors, are convulsing. Naturally she gets everybody into trouble. She acts as a magnet to attract not only her friends, but her enemies to the garrison and all of them, for some cause or other, are imprisoned while the foxy Rosette escapes.

Great attention has been given to the staging of the piece, some of the "sets" being particularly handsome. The costumes are said to be marvels of beauty, and the members of the chorus were selected with this particular end in view.
